See story on pages 14, 15, and 16.

From the Alumni Association Board President

During the time that has passed since most of us were students at Saint Joseph's College, many changes have taken place in our worlds. We have gone our separate ways and made lives of our own, and with those lives have come the many demands that society, family, and career make on each of us. However, despite our busy lives, it would be unfortunate if we didn't occasionally pause and reflect on the many persons and events that shaped our lives and made us who we are today.

The Alumni Association Board members of Saint Joseph's College are one group of people who take those reflections and use them as motivation to assist SJC in fulfilling its mission. In this issue, they want to encourage you to take your Puma pride and spread it to others, in ways that have nothing to do with your checkbook. They'll talk about how something as simple as wearing your SJC tee shirt keeps our alma mater strong.

We who are alumni of Saint Joseph's are most fortunate to have experienced first-hand what kind of impact a dedicated and spirited faculty and administration could make on us and our lives. To be sure, the many priests, sisters, and brothers of the Missionaries of the Precious Blood, as well as the many lay men and women we knew from those days, were not expecting to retire rich and famous. Rather, they saw young men and women who they could mold and form into responsible adults who would bring the Christian ethic into their families and the workplace. I would like to think that, in most cases, they succeeded, and that we alumni of Saint Joseph's should stand proud and tall, as a testament to their sacrifices and the SJC spirit.

Now it's our turn to show how we believe in the students at Saint Joseph's College, just as others believed in us so long ago. No matter how you choose to show your support for SJC, your help ensures that Saint Joseph's is here for you to take pride in for many years to come. As you finish reading this letter, please pause for a moment, recall one faculty member from your college experience, and offer a prayer of thanks for the fact that they touched your life. Your thoughts and prayers will, more than anything else, give witness to SJC's mission.

Alumni Golf

June's weather was perfect for golfing, and the golf events held in Chicago and Indianapolis were attended by approximately one hundred Pumas. The revived Chicago Area Golf Outing and Dinner was held on June 17th at Ruffled Feathers Golf Club in Lemont, Illinois, while the Annual Indianapolis Area Golf Outing and Cookout was held at Plum Creek Country Club on June 24th.

WHITE WATER RAFTING 2003

DID YOU KNOW...?

- Rivers are divided into sections called "classifications." Classifications range from I to VII. A Class I requires little to no skill to navigate, while a Class VII is considered "unrunable."
- When rafting during summer months, you should dress as though you were heading to the beach: old sneakers/sandals, swim wear, waterproof sun screen, bee-sting kit, cheap sunglasses with a strap, and a cotton tee shirt are recommended.
- You can learn more about SJC's second annual white water rafting trip by contacting Alumni and Parent Relations Director Kendra Berenda at 800-227-1898.

SJC Remembers

Rev. Charles H. Banet, C.P.P.S. '50 passed away on June 22nd at the rectory of Holy Rosary Church in Galveston, Texas. A former President of Saint Joseph's College, Banet served SJC in that capacity from 1965 until 1993, making his tenure as President the longest in SJC's history.

Born on December 8, 1922, in Fort Wayne, Indiana, Banet entered the Missionaries of the Precious Blood in 1937 and was ordained to the priesthood on March 25, 1949, by Bishop Rehring at St. Charles Seminary in Carthagena, Ohio. After his ordination, Banet began a career in library science, which spanned from 1949 to 1965. He served as Assistant Librarian at two colleges, and in 1952, he became Head Librarian of SJC, where he had received his bachelor's degree in Philosophy two years earlier. In 1965, Banet was chosen to be President of Saint Joseph's College, a position he held until he retired in 1993. During his tenure, he encouraged student participation in many aspects of the College, initiated laymen to the Board of Trustees, and brought to the campus new and expanded academic, athletic, cultural, and social dimensions. As President, he served on numerous educational boards, including the Board of Directors of Associated Colleges of Indiana and the Independent Colleges and Universities of Indiana. Banet also held positions on many boards and offices in state and national library associations. He was nationally recognized as an authority on statistical and cataloging principles, and served as a Consultant in these areas to the American Library Association.

Banet is best known in the world of education for his pioneering achievement in adopting a new interdisciplinary general education curriculum for SJC, the Core Program, in 1969.

Within his religious congregation, Banet served as one of the founding members of the Precious Blood Institute, which sought to promote devotion to the Precious Blood. From 1965 to 1970, Banet was elected and served as a member of the Provincial Council for the newly formed Cincinnati Province of the Missionaries of the Precious Blood. In July 1993, he retired and moved to Holy Rosary Parish in Galveston, Texas, where he served with his brother, Rev. Paul Banet, as a parish priest at Holy Rosary Church.

SJC Holds Dedication Ceremony for New Entranceway and Flag Plaza

On May 31st, members of the Classes of 1961 and 1956 gathered at Saint Joseph's College to attend a dedication ceremony for SJC's new entranceway and flag plaza. Funds for the entranceway were received from the Class of 1961, while the flag plaza was funded by the Class of 1956. The project's construction was completed in time for the College's 108th Commencement Ceremony on May 11th.

Speakers at the ceremony included President Ernest Mills III, College Fund Director Steve Brady, John Baumann '61, and Jack Carlson '56. A blessing was performed by Rev. Leonard Kostka, C.P.P.S. '35.

GREGORIAN CHANT INSTITUTE RECORDS CD

This year, several participants from SJC's one-week Gregorian Chant Institute were personally selected by Director Rev. Lawrence Heiman, C.P.P.S. '40 for a special honor: to record a CD. In July, he and students spent five hours recording in Blessed Sacrament Church in West Lafayette, Indiana.

"The Institute has recorded CDs before, but this one was more extensive," he said. "You don't always have a group of people with the talent and technique of singing Gregorian Chant, but this group had truly mastered it, so we did it."

According to Heiman, the CD, now available, contains 25 Gregorian masterworks, principally taken from the liturgies of the great solemnities of the Liturgical Year, including Christmas, Easter, and Pentecost.

Those interested in purchasing a CD may do so by contacting Heiman at 219-866-6272. Price is $8 per CD; mail orders are $10.

Missionary Outreach Holds Annual Dinner in Honor of Founder

On July 12th, the Missionary Outreach Program of Saint Joseph's College held a memorial Mass and dinner in honor of Founder Rev. James Froelich, C.P.P.S. '51. Following the dinner, a silent auction featuring African artifacts and a live auction featuring African art pieces was held. The proceeds raised totaled $7,664 and will be used to assist the Missionaries of the Precious Blood seminarians who are currently living in Tanzania and helping the poor there. "The SJCMO Committee feels we cannot afford to let this vision of what Saint Joseph's College can do to keep alive such a vision of a better, more enlightened and peaceful world die out," said Don Kreilkamp, Professor Emeritus of History and Philosophy of Saint Joseph's College and a Missionary Outreach Committee member.

Serving as celebrant for the Mass was Professor Emeritus of History and German Rev. Dominic Gerlach, C.P.P.S. '46, while Eric Boos, M.A., Ph.D., J.D., LL.M. '86 delivered a speech to those in attendance. Boos has been to Tanzania several times, and recently received a Fulbright Scholarship to offer courses and conduct field research at Sokoine University in Tanzania during the 2003-2004 academic year. (See Boos's profile on page 21.)

Froelich spent the last three years of his life volunteering one semester of each year to teach at St. Gaspar College in Morogoro, Tanzania. There, he worked with people living in stark poverty, and before returning to Tanzania for the last time in December of 1997, he founded the SJC Missionary Outreach Program. His hope was to provide greatly needed medical supplies for the hospitals, leper colonies, and orphanages of East Africa. Froelich passed away in July of 1998 in a primitive clinic in Morogoro, Tanzania.

For more information about SJC's Missionary Outreach Program, contact President Tom Ryan '70 at 219-866-6232.

CAMPUS RENOVATIONS UPDATE

SJC employees spent the majority of their summer renovating Seifert Hall and Halleck Student Center's cafeteria before students returned to campus. Seifert Hall's renovations included new tile, coats of paint, and a central heating and air system for residential rooms. A layer of drywall now covers the glazed brick and plaster in the hallways, which also received new ceilings, lighting, and carpeting. Old drapes were removed throughout the building and replaced with brand-new blinds. A new laundry room was also built on the west side in order to accommodate the Hall's new coed status.

The cafeteria was repainted, retiled, and recarpeted. A new entrée and grill area was installed, and several serving counters were replaced.

Tony Baltes, Director of Physical Plant, remarked that by utilizing SJC employees in lieu of hiring independent contractors, the College was able to save thousands of dollars and still do a wonderful job. "They've worked really hard," he said.

Welcome, Fellows!

On May 31st, the Saint Joseph's College Fellows held their annual induction ceremony.

Grotto Beautification UPDATE

The Grotto Beautification Project, sponsored by the Saint Joseph's College Fellows, has begun in stages. Throughout the spring, many volunteers spent time pulling weeds ... and pulling more weeds. Additional electrical and water lines were run, improving access to the utilities and allowing for the installation of light poles and landscape lighting for both safety and beauty. Volunteers gathered again in August to remove damaged trees and the multitude of limbs and twigs that fell in the wrath of July's storms. The concrete for the major pathways will be poured in September, allowing for the start of landscaping and fall plantings in anticipation of the spring. The waterfalls and ponds have also been restored and add the perfect touch to the Grotto's natural beauty. Two members of the local Boy Scout Troop have adopted the restoration of the Stations of the Cross as their Eagle Scout project, and they will work in tandem with SJC personnel on the restoration. Volunteer response for this project has been phenomenal.

The Fellows are also pleased to report that sponsorship of the 24 memorial benches and 14 Stations of the Cross have sold out. For larger contributions and commemorative opportunities, one memorial walkway and three memorial gardens are available. Contributions of any size for the Grotto Beautification Project are welcome and will be matched by the Lilly Initiative.

If you are interested in volunteering any amount of time to restoring the Grotto, or have questions regarding Grotto Beautification contributions and commemorative opportunities, please contact Maureen Egan '90 at 800-227-1898.

See what we were up to this summer....

Students take the temperature of a pig carcass in order to determine its time of death

BROADCASTING CAMP

In its first year, SJC's Broadcasting Camp, held from June 16-19th, empowered high-school aged students with the ability to operate communication equipment and get a feel for life behind the microphone and in front of the camera. Participants learned how to digitally edit audio and video work, write and produce radio commercials, speak into a microphone, operate a camera, and anchor news and sports. All students received audio and/or visual copies of their final products.

"The skills (learned in the camp) introduced the participants to the hectic yet exhilarating life of the radio and television industries," said Sally Nesselrode, Assistant Professor of Communication at SJC and one of the instructors for the camp. "After completing the camp, many of the students have a good idea of whether radio or television or both are areas they wish to pursue in their continuing education."

CRIME SOLVERS CAMP

The Second Annual Crime Solvers Camp took place from July 14-19th and allowed students and teachers interested in forensic science to explore a number of disciplines in the field, focusing specifically on blood spattering (the examination of blood traces at a crime scene to determine how injuries were made), toxicology (the study of the detection, nature, and effects of poisons), and forensic entomology (the use of insects to determine time and location of death). Projects included learning how to make different chemicals and examining actual pig carcasses to determine their times of death. Co-instructor Cheryl Wistrom, Associate Professor of Chemistry at SJC, said, "High-school students had an opportunity to learn techniques from and network with national experts in forensic science, as well as with College science faculty. They attended both lecture and laboratory sessions and completed assignments that involved college-level work."

Neal Haskell, Associate Professor of Biology at SJC and the only full-time entomologist in the United States, added that he thought students received a real feel for what a career in forensic science is like. "They got a real taste – and smell – of the true, and sometimes boring, workings that forensic scientists have to do. It's a lot of data taking, attention to detail, and manual exercise. [The camp] allowed you to find out not only what you like to do, but what you don't like to do," he said.

ARTCAMP

For this year's 10th Annual ARTCAMP, which is offered by Rensselaer's Prairie Arts Council, several SJC Art majors were able to assist Associate Professor of Art/ARTCAMP Director Bonnie Zimmer in the teaching of workshops for children and teenagers. Some of the topics explored included Raku firing, self-portrait sculpturing, clay fundamentals, tie dying, painting, and bookbinding.

One student makes a chemical solution using ferricyanide, an iron compound that reacts with luminol to produce light, which is used to locate blood traces at a crime scene

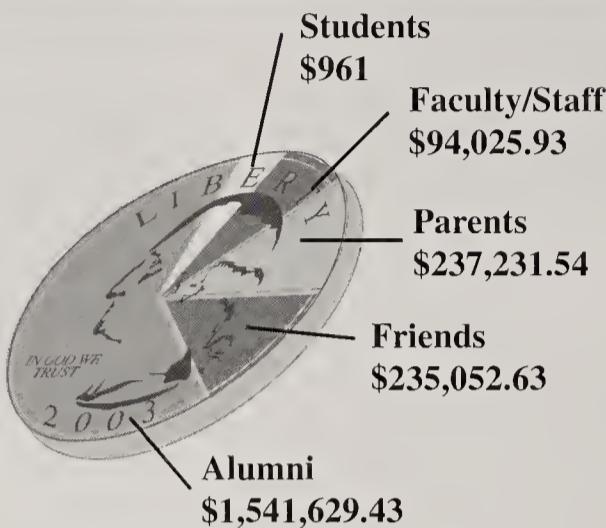

Sarah Kennedy '04 explains the technique of self-portrait sculpturing to an ARTCAMP participant

For Sarah Kennedy '04, who will be the first person to graduate from SJC with a degree in Art Education, running ARTCAMP workshops is an excellent way to gain valuable teaching experience. "For each workshop, I plan what projects I want the kids to do and [decide] what supplies I am going to need," she said. "I plan on being an art teacher once I am done with school, and by teaching the workshops, I gain a little more experience every time."

CONTRIBUTION

COUNTDOWN

SJC continues to extend special thanks to its alumni, parents, employees, students, and friends – because of your generosity, SJC has raised $2,108,900 for the Lilly Initiative from June 1, 2002, to August 15, 2003.

The Lilly Initiative ends December 31, 2003.

For more information about making a gift, contact College Fund Director Steve Brady at 800-227-1898.

Amy Harrell '04 records a Phonathon gift ber 31st. Every gift will be matched dollar-for-dollar by the Lilly Initiative. Students from campus will be calling from September 14th-21st to provide information about the Lilly Initiative and ask for your help in supporting the mission of SJC.

PHONATHON

Every fall, you expect the leaves to change and the weather to cool down; this year, you can also expect to receive a phone call for the "Falling for Lilly" Phonathon. To complement the Spring Phonathon's efforts, which brought in more than $110,000, we will be calling a number of alumni, parents, and friends in order to encourage a gift of any size to Saint Joseph's College before December 31st.

Look forward to being called in September!

MATCHING GIFT PROGRAMS:

What they are and how they impact SJC

Matching gift programs are an important source of financial support for the College Fund at Saint Joseph's College. During the 2002-2003 fiscal year (July 1st-June 30th), more than $93,000 came from corporate matching gifts. Often listed as a benefit for employees, many companies will match an employee's gift dollar-for-dollar – or at a higher ratio.

Doubling the impact of your gift through a matching gift program is simple. Just mail your contribution and your company's matching gift form to Saint Joseph's College. The Office of Institutional Advancement and Marketing will verify that your gift has been received and return the form to the Matching Gift Program Administrator.

Most corporations have specific guidelines that both the College and employee must meet before a gift can be matched. To find out if your employer has a matching gift program, contact your employer's Human Resources Department, or SJC College Fund Director Steve Brady by calling 800-227-1898 or sending an e-mail to sbrady@saintjoe.edu.

The Alumni Association Wants YOU to Spread Your Puma Pride

"The purpose of the Saint Joseph's College Alumni Association shall be to unify all Saint Joseph's College alumni for service to the College ..., development of financial support ..., the extension of alumni and campus relations, the involvement of alumni through alumni and other special events, the encouragement of academic distinction, and any other service that the Association may render for a greater Saint Joseph's College."

- Excerpted from the mission statement of the Saint Joseph's College Alumni Association

The Alumni Association of Saint Joseph's College takes seriously its commitment to service. Whether members are offering career advice to Pumas entering the work force or hosting receptions for prospective students, their actions show that "Involved For Life" isn't just a tagline – it's a challenge.

"We're a volunteer board in every sense of the word," explained Kendra Berenda, Executive Director for the Association and Alumni and Parent Relations Director at SJC. "If the Office of Admissions needs help with a college fair, we can help. If someone needs a speaker for class, we can find one."

The Association maintains a close relationship with the College and engages in a variety of events on campus during the academic year. Board members help incoming freshmen move into their residence halls during orientation weekend. Under their leadership, a select number of Pumas are inducted into SJC's Sports Hall of Fame, and a current senior is honored with the coveted Annual Senior of the Year Award each year. They sponsor alumni activities and assist with Homecoming Weekend, and also host an appreciation dinner for members of the Missionaries of the Precious Blood.

However, when it comes to involvement, there's always room for more. "Anybody who attended SJC for four semesters or more is automatically considered an alumnus or alumna, which means our Association has a membership of over 10,000 people," Berenda explained. "I don't think people always make the connection that whatever they do for the College, they also do on behalf of the Alumni Association as an Association member."

And the Executive Officers have plenty of ideas regarding ways alumni can do their part to support the Association's efforts.

Lou Offer '69

Vice President of Alumni Relations

"One of the most endearing qualities of the SJC community is its willingness to be generous, and I think it's important to touch on that spirit as we grow," Offer explained. "I would encourage all alumni to assist the Board by representing SJC at a college fair, volunteering for a career-day opportunity, or participating in the prospective student alumni/admissions receptions the College hosts. Since such events are coordinated by offices on campus, involvement in these activities doesn't take up much time."

that they wish they'd done so sooner. Don't wait – come back!" she said. "Attend Homecoming, Little 500, and sporting events and visit with old friends and faculty. Come back and plan a reunion with

Vice President of Administration

"We all know people from Saint Joseph's College who have really made their marks in the world. Perhaps we know someone who is President of a recognized company, or a talented award-winning musician or artist. The Board tries to honor those individuals every year by awarding them with Alumni Achievement and Alumni Service Awards, but we can't hope to know all of the many alumni who deserve recognition for their accomplishments," Bauman said. "That's where you come in. Let us know who they are! They need to know how grateful SJC is for their contributions to the College and their communities." Alumni can e-mail nominations for alumni awards to alumniawards@saintjoe.edu.

a box of SJC items and drop it off with your local high school's guidance counselor, so he or she can pass them out to college-bound students. In other words, take an active interest in SJC's well being," he said. "All of these things help to get the word out about Saint Joseph's College."

There are a variety of ways for alumni to assist SJC, and according to Alumni Association Board President Steve Ligda '62, the important thing is not how you do it, but that you do it, period. "All of us Saint Joseph's College graduates should be proud when we hear our alma mater mentioned positively in the media, or by others whom we meet daily. But our degree is only going to have value if the College continues to polish its reputation as an outstanding Catholic liberal arts college," he explained. "A lot of dedicated administrators and faculty are working to see that Saint Joseph's continues as a model for higher education, but they can't do it alone. Alumni are needed to talk up SJC's story, to meet and greet other alumni, students, and prospective students and their families. It's not all about the money. It's about you and your ability to keep the reputation, values, mission, and memory of Saint Joseph's College alive for years to come."

Things you can do to support SJC (that won't cost you a dime):

- Wear your SJC clothing to area high school events
- Stock your local high school with recruitment publications
- Sign a prospective student's application to waive the $25 fee
- Register in SJC's alumni e-mail directory at www.saintjoe.edu/alumni
- Nominate a classmate for an alumni award by sending an e-mail to alumniawards@saintjoe.edu
- Attend Homecoming Weekend and other College events
- Submit updates for Contact's "Class Notes"
- Get together with old classmates
- Call a former professor to say "Thank you"
- Pray for us!

Tina Carroll '02
English Teacher
Queen of Peace High School
Burbank, Illinois

In September 2001, future co-valedictorian Tina Carroll '02 was taking notes in her English classes at SJC. This fall, for the second time, she's the one providing lecture material for students at Queen of Peace High School in Burbank, Illinois, which Carroll herself graduated from in 1998. After a year in the classroom, she knows her English/Literature degree at SJC was the best preparation she could have received. The experiences she had – standing up for her opinions in the classroom (as well as welcoming the opinions of others), developing a portfolio of her work, participating as a Teacher's Assistant for every semester of her college career, and actually teaching high school English classes as a senior – have shaped her development as a teacher. "SJC did a tremendous job preparing me to enter the working world by demanding that I speak up in class and develop opinions and a voice," she explained. "I gained confidence and composure in a professional setting. At faculty meetings, I have no reservations about speaking up because I realize my opinion is valid."

The Class One Year Later

As a new academic year begins at SJC, the one year in the "real world." Whether they're in the courtroom, it's obvious they've

One of the most significant lessons she learned at SJC was how to become organized, a lesson she had plenty of practice with as a Student Teacher her senior year. "Something as simple as taking attendance every period can turn into a nightmare, not to mention keeping student paperwork sorted," she said. "What was nice about student teaching was that I had some help from my supervising teachers, who had systems already in place and helpful hints for me. Now, it makes me feel good when my colleagues ask how I always seem so organized with my lessons and even my demeanor when deadlines are approaching." And with participation in such activities as Gallagher Charitable Society, Eucharistic Ministry, the Freshman Leader Program, intramural sports, and being a Tour Guide for the Office of Admissions, she was able to gain confidence in her abilities as a standout leader. "I was asked to speak in front of prospective students and their parents at Queen of Peace's Open House on two occasions," she said. "Having given many presentations at SJC, I knew I had to do something to set my school apart, so I wrote a poem for the students and even received a few rounds of applause after reciting it."

Though Carroll is the first to admit that teaching is a hard job to prepare for, she is also the first to give SJC credit for strengthening her patience, sense of humor, and devotion to learning. "During my first set of parent-teacher conferences, my heart was beating like a drum as I waited patiently for parents to arrive," she said. "I never lost my composure, and it actually turned out to be a rather pleasant experience, with the majority of parents thanking me for my hard work. The confidence that SJC instilled in me helps me to remember that I have the power and ability to transform the lives of my students."

of 2002: or Later

Members of the Class of 2002 have already spent teaching in the classroom or preparing for a career developed the skills they need to succeed.

David Banks '02
Law Student
Regent University
Virginia Beach, Virginia

David Banks '02, who recently completed his first year in law school at Regent University in Virginia Beach, Virginia, thanks his Political Science degree from SJC for preparing him for the vigorous life of a graduate student. He spends the majority of his time researching and writing in order to secure summer associate positions with various law firms, and believes his experience in the Core Program gave him the tools to keep up with his demanding schedule. "A typical day for me involves five solid hours of class and about ten hours of studying," he said. "But it's about more than reading and writing. I have to be able to take the information I have and apply it to real life. Without the Core Program, which forced me to write extensively and analyze the facts I was given, I would never have made it this far in my schooling."

The Core Program also helped Banks examine the ethics he holds as a future lawyer. For his final Core class, he enrolled in a section entitled "Christianity in Public Life," which encouraged him to evaluate his future profession and hold it up to the ideals he possessed. "For my final presentation, I had to research and present on the topic 'The Ethics of Lawyers,' which gave me the opportunity to examine and understand the role of the legal profession in our society, the public's perception of that profession, and reconcile those with my Christian beliefs," he explained. "There were some hard but common questions that arose, and without [Core X], I may never have thoroughly examined them."

Involvement in on-campus activities gave Banks actual experience in the courtroom. As a Defense Lawyer for SJC's Mock Trial team, Banks had to research the witnesses he was questioning and deliver closing arguments for his team, during which he was forced to think on his feet and recall important facts that were disclosed during the trial. "During that case, I received compliments from the judges because I was able to take key elements of the prosecution's case and use it to help my own," he said. At Regent University, he competed in Moot Court, a similar competition that aims to help students formulate stronger individual arguments. "The presentations and oral arguments I did with Mock Trial really helped to prepare me for this sort of competition. Since I had so much practice, I wasn't as worried about it as other students were."

In addition to attending classes, Banks has also been working as a Law Intern for Blue Cross-Blue Shield in Virginia, where his duties include assisting in writing position papers, drafting settlement agreements, and researching court cases and laws. Because of his SJC education, there isn't a job Banks can't handle. "By participating in organizations like College Democrats, Diversity Coalition, Student Union Board, and the Resident Assistants Program, I know when it's time to follow and when it's time to take charge," he said. "SJC lets you have both experiences in order to ensure your success."

Where Is He Now?

David Owens '75

David Owens '75 can't get enough of Saint Joseph's College. Spending four years at SJC as a student, more than ten as a faculty member, and five as a Board Member of SJC's Alumni Association, he's now wrapping up his first year as a member of SJC's Board of Trustees.

As an Economics professor at SJC, Owens' list of duties branched out to include co-directing the Multicultural Affairs Office, serving as Faculty Advisor for Minority Student Union (now Diversity Coalition), developing cultural programming on campus, recruiting new students to SJC, and monitoring those students' academic progress.

In 1994, Owens left Saint Joseph's College to pursue a career with The American University in Washington, D.C., accepting the position of Multicultural Affairs Director. "They were impressed with the experience I had gained at SJC, and once in the position, I helped to create my office," he explained. His "things-to-do" list – recruit, advise, and provide cultural programming for students – is similar to the one he had at SJC. "I like to see students succeed and do great things," he commented. "That's what it's about – getting them here and seeing them graduate."

As a Board of Trustees member, Owens is excited to cultivate his newest relationship with SJC. "I think I can do some concrete things, see to it that students from the [Washington, D.C.] area get to SJC," he said, adding, "I loved it so much at Saint Joseph's College that I stayed in higher education for my career. As a faculty member, I tried to give back what I had received as a student. Now, I love finding students with promise and watching them grow."

A unique or funny story about you around the time the photo was taken: Being raised in Chicago, it was a great thrill as a kid to dream of riding a horse or pony. One Saturday, a man came through the neighborhood with a pony that we could sit on and have our picture taken with. I remember that day as one of the great joys of my childhood. Even though I was accused of acting like a "cowboy" over the years, that's the closest I've come to actually being one.

What you're doing now:

I joined the family's printing business with my two older brothers, and after 35 years, I sold my interest in the business to a business associate. I am now semi-retired, but still devote much time to several charitable organizations, including SJC. I am also Chairman of the College's Board of Trustees.

In August, Eric Boos, M.A., Ph.D., J.D., LL.M. '86, his wife, Karene, and children Zebadiah, five, Lauren, three, and Meridith, one, made a significant lifestyle change. Awarded a Fulbright Scholarship by the Council for International Exchange of Scholars, Boos is teaching and researching land tenure laws and their relationship to agricultural practice and production in developing countries at Sokoine University, while also teaching Philosophy at the Salvatorian Institute, both in Morogoro, Tanzania. Karene serves as the Chair of the English and Communications Department at the Institute.

"We're looking to make this a permanent move," said Boos, who seeks to make a significant scholarly contribution in Tanzania. "I want to use the Fulbright [Scholarship] to help a nation strengthen itself from the ground up in a grass-roots initiative, while working from the top down to change the law."

Boos' interest in Tanzania was nurtured through members and friends of the Missionaries of the Precious Blood, who were carrying out missionary duties there. He saw this as an open door, and after honeymooning as missionaries in Africa, he and his wife decided to work towards improving the educational opportunities made available to natives there. Boos traveled back and forth to Tanzania for three years, handling various administrative duties for the Salvatorian

Institute and teaching seminars. During that time, he also published two books and over a dozen articles, finished a doctorate of jurisprudence and a master's degree in Philosophy, and taught at both Edgewood College and Marian College of Fond Du Lac. He also wrote the prospectus for the proposed Mwokozi Law Program, recruited and trained missionary lecturers for the Salvatorian Institute, and negotiated several arrangements with the Tanzanian government. He and his wife each received "Foreign Language and Area Studies" fellowships to master Swahili and have won a total of five State Bar and Dean's Academic Awards between them.

After his Scholarship ends, Boos intends to apply for a renewal in order to start a Land Tenure Center and Conflict Resolution Clinic as a joint venture between Sokoine University, the Salvatorian Institute, the University of Wisconsin Law School and Land Tenure Center, and the University of Dar es Salaam. This step is a foundation for the full development of the Mwokozi Law Program that will procure legal training for Tanzanians.

The Fulbright Scholarship has helped Boos and his family answer a call to action. "We take the lives of the apostles as examples, especially people like St. Peter who had a family. We are trying to be 'fools for Christ,' as St. Paul says."

William Ring '62 always had a warm spot in his heart for Saint Joseph's College.

Upon the passing of her husband, Bonnie Ring considered donating the proceeds of her husband's life insurance policy as an outright gift to Saint Joseph's College. It would be a fitting tribute to the alma mater he cherished. However, after discussing the matter with her financial advisor, Bonnie instead decided to establish a Charitable Gift Annuity. Now, in exchange for her gift, she receives a guaranteed source of income for the remainder of her lifetime.

Advantages of a Saint Joseph's College Charitable Gift Annuity include lifetime payments at attractive rates and significant tax benefits for your charitable contribution.

"With this gift, I was able to memorialize my husband and his love of SJC. At the same time, my quarterly income gives me peace of mind without the worries of managing funds and fearing a fluctuating income during the golden years."

Brodman at the meeting of the Black and Amazon Rivers in Brazil

Robert Brodman, Professor of Biology and Environmental Science, spent part of his “summer vacation” attending the Joint Herpetology (the study of amphibians) and Ichthyology (the study of fish) Meeting in Manaus, Brazil. At the conference, which was held from June 26th-July 1st, Brodman presented the findings of his most current research regarding the recovery of amphibian population at The Nature Conservancy habitat restoration at Kankakee Sands in Newton County, Indiana.

Maia Kingman, Assistant Professor of English, attended the Annual Midwest Writers Workshop at Ball State University July 24-26th, where noted writer, editor, and journalist George Plimpton delivered the keynote address.

William Mottolese, Assistant Professor of English, had his article, “Wandering Rocks as Ethnography? Or Ethnography on the Rocks?” published in the Vol. 39, no. 2, winter 2002 edition of James Joyce Quarterly. He also delivered a paper, “Tradition, Superstition, and Self-Definition: Culture and Belonging in Ulysses,” at the 2003 North American James Joyce Conference at the University of Tulsa in Tulsa, Oklahoma, on June 16th. He and Saint Joseph’s College were mentioned by name in an Associated Press article about the conference. “Tulsa Draws Fans of Irish Author” can be read by logging on to: http://www.newsstar.com/stories/061703/New_6.shtml.

John Nichols, National Endowment for the Humanities Distinguished Teaching Professor at SJC, keeps the Saint Joseph’s College name and reputation of its Core Curriculum present in state and national higher education circles. The 2002-2003 academic year was fairly typical, with two meetings of the Board of Directors of the Indiana Catholic Conference, three accreditation visits to other colleges for the North Central Association, and four presentations at three different national associations. Somewhat atypical was the completion of his 2001-2003 term as President of the Association for General and Liberal Studies and his installation as President of the Council for the Administration of General and Liberal Studies for 2003-2004.

From the Vice President of Institutional Advancement and Marketing

What an amazing year! Many thanks to all who responded charitably to the Initiatives presented by Lilly Endowment. In December, we celebrated the $936,091 contributed by Trustees in response to the Lilly Initiative to Strengthen Board Commitment. The clock ticks away on the Special Initiative that ends December 31, 2003. From this Initiative, SJC can receive up to $3.5 million in matching funds for gifts made by alumni, parents, employees (current and retired), friends, and students. Not often does an opportunity like this present itself, and I hope that you will remember SJC among your top charities, especially through December 31st.

As a liturgical musician in a small town, I am called upon to help with music for a variety of churches, giving new meaning to "Roamin" Catholic. Many Protestant churches incorporate into their worship a segment that I love – the sharing of "Joys and Concerns." Literary liberties allow me to adapt this concept when referring to the work of Institutional Advancement and Marketing at SJC for the past year.

JOYS: Two years ago, it was brought to light the fact that alumni donor participation was at a dismal 15%, compared to the national average of 30%. We ended that year with an 18% alumni donor participation rate, rose to 22% last year, and – drum roll please – concluded this fiscal year with another rise to 24%. What does that mean? It means that 2,226 alumni chose to make a gift to SJC between July 1st and June 30th. It warms the heart to witness the support of our own campus community, where employee giving grew from 29% last year to 36% this year. Many thanks to all who contributed in the midst of some troubling economic times.

“ It warms the heart to witness the support of our own campus community, where employee giving grew from 29% last year to 36% this year. ”

CONCERNS: As you review the Honor Roll of Donors in the listing by class years, you will notice there's plenty of work to be done to encourage more alumni donor participation from the 1960s to the present graduating classes. To put this into perspective: out of 9,258 living alumni with updated mailing addresses, 2,226 chose to respond with a gift in this fiscal year. Participation is based on the simple act of making a gift, regardless of the size of the gift. It is my hope that many more Pumas will join in support of the College Fund this year, especially while we can capitalize on the Lilly match for gifts made prior to December 31st. Personal challenge: don't see one of your classmates listed in the Honor Roll of Donors? Call, e-mail, or visit them and encourage their support of SJC. Financially strapped? Read our cover story to find other ways to help SJC.

There was a phenomenal lineup of events both on and off campus, and this coming year looks to offer even more for Puma alumni, parents, and friends! I hope that you will attend these social, cultural, family-oriented, or athletic events coming to a city near you. Want to stay informed of SJC events, activities, and news consistently throughout the year? Visit the SJC Web site at www.saintjoe.edu. When you visit, register yourself in the alumni e-mail directory, which can be found under the "Alumni" link.

Want to know a great way to help SJC? Keep your eyes open for future Pumas – star students mentioned in the newspapers; stellar athletes from your local area; your children or grandchildren; prospective students from your church or neighborhood; and students that you taught or counseled. Fall freshman enrollment, at the time of this writing, increased nearly 10% over last year's class of 247, and SJC offers many thanks for the referrals from people like you.

On behalf of the staff of Institutional Advancement and Marketing and the campus community, I thank you for your continued support of Saint Joseph's College and remain honored to serve you.
